Named number one by the trade press - the Oehlbach NF Sub Subwoofer RCA cable

Trade journals for home entertainment technology and accessories regularly take a close look at, test, compare and evaluate it. The experts usually work with TÜV-tested procedures and provide you with valuable orientation for your technology purchase with the test results or comparisons - as does COMPUTER BILD. It has now published its major subwoofer cable comparison 2020: with the Oehlbach NF Sub Subwoofer RCA cable in first place.

The magazine tested the Oehlbach NF Sub in the black five meter long version. But it is also available with 1, 2, 3, 8 and even ten meters length and optionally in Bordeaux red for your surround system or a 2.1 system. The magazine's technology experts were particularly impressed by

- the very good workmanship of the Oehlbach subwoofer RCA cable
- its high flexibility with a bending radius of 45 degrees
- the very good grip on the connection sockets.

In comparison, the Oehlbach NF Sub also fulfilled the demands of the technical professionals for gold-plated contacts effortlessly. High contact reliability and robust, durable contacts have been an important focus in the product development of our various connection cables for years. Together with the 24 carat gold-plated connections, they are almost a kind of trademark, which you have long since found not only in this subwoofer RCA cable, but in many Oehlbach cables.

Bass Artists

With an extra large cross section of the high-quality OFC inner conductor, we have designed the Oehlbach NF Sub cable for a maximum of powerful and precise bass reproduction. Due to its multiple copper braided shielding, other signals have no chance of disturbing the bass sound of your system. This makes the transmission quality between your subwoofer and an AV receiver flawless. This cable brings pure bass into your home! And yet the subwoofer RCA cable remains very flexible in its solid plastic jacket and can be laid anywhere easily and precisely.
